Great Speech of Senator Trumbull at Chicago.

He Fixes the Charge of Artful Dodging upon Mr. Douglas on the Kansas Issue of Popular Sovereignty.

Lecompton—Southern Despotism at Washington—Curious Custom House Statistics—Dred Scott, &c.

From the Chicago Democrat

Upon being introduced, Mr Trumbull was greeted with three hearty cheers. Silence having been restored, he said —

Fellow Citizens—I am gratified to have an opportunity of laying before so many of my fellow citizens as I see here assembled, my views in regard to the political questions which have agitated the public mind since I became connected with public affairs. When I entered Congress as one of the representatives of this State, the great and all absorbing question which occupied the public mind was the slavery question. Parties were then organized upon that question, and they have continued up to this time, and it is in regard to that question that I shall chiefly address you tonight, though not altogether, for, in discussing that question I desire to bring before you the fact which exists that all the great powers of this government are subordinate to this one question. I wish to show you how the expenditures of this government are made, how its patronage is used, and how its power is exerted for the purpose of encouraging the spread of slavery and the domination of the slave power. (Applause.) In doing this, my fellow citizens, I shall resort to no elegant expressions. I wish to present to this audience, or to this State, to act in concert with that party with which I have the honor to act, unless he believes it to be right. If have no false colors to hang out to deceive you, but I wish to lay before you the plain, honest truth, and if that does not commend the party with which I act to your judgment, then I say to you that it is your duty to act with some other party. But if, in the course of the observations I have to make, I can show you that a party acting under false colors, pretending one thing and doing another, is misleading the public mind and changing the policy of the Government—professing one policy, to gain its political ends—professing to be the Democratic party, is tramping under foot the principles of the Democratic party, professing to be the conservative party, and claiming to be the only party which can hold the Union together, professing to be the party which is the only party which can hold the Union together, professing to be the party which is the only party which can hold the Union together, professing to be the party which is in it; among others, striking out the clause requiring its submission to the people. He ask no that, on consultation with Mr. Toombs he has made the alterations. (Tremendous applause.)

A VOICE—To whom did he make the statement?

MR. TRUMBULL—He made it in the Senate of the United States, and it is reported on the Congressional Globe; and sir, if you are a Douglas man—

SAME VOICE—I am, sir.

MR. TRUMBULL—And you want to satisfy yourself that he was in a plot to form a constitution on that people. I will satisfy you. (Cries of good, good, let him again, and cheers.) And to the man who does deny it, I will cram the lie down his throat until he shall cry aquam. (Tremendous cheering.) It is proposition—is the most damnable extraordinary that ever man put on, to consent a scheme to defraud and cheat people out of their rights, and then claim credit for it. (Cries of "Hurrah for Trumbull—hit him again—down with all such men.") That is possible, my Douglas friend—that is not all. I, myself, humble as I am, and making no pretence to other than to have performed my duty to the best of my ability in looking after the interest of the State which has honored me by placing me in the Senate, pointed this out two years ago.— (Three cheers for Trumbull were given with great enthusiasm.) I stated that it was a little too much in this out of the most important. In the president, other to call a convention in Kansas before knowing by Mason, of Virginia, and a majority of that committee what was the wish of the people, and then to allow the fifty-two men who were to compose the committee on the Judiciary is presided over by Bayard convention, according to that bill, to put any sort of a constitution upon the people, without allowing them to vote upon it.

A VOICE—What did Douglas say to it?

MR. TRUMBULL—What did he say? He was silent as the grave, and voted for the bill. (Applause.) It passed the Senate, but was defeated in the House. Mind you now, this was before the Presidential election. (Cheers and laughter.)—It was before the chicanery of the Free soilers had rallied around Washington and frightened the men who were there. (Applause.) It was before the free people of Illinois had swept the plunderers from the Nine Crystal, had installed in their places free men. (Renewed applause.) It would not do to risk policy much longer. (Laughter and applause.)

LECOMPTON.

The people of Kansas, it is said—or I will say, rather, the Legislature of Kansas which had been imposed upon that people—made provision, about a year ago, for calling a convention to form a constitution, so they laid their plans in such a way that they had the power in their own hands—They took a registry, or pretended to take a registry of the voters. They made the registry so as to give themselves a majority. They apportioned the representation throughout the State, and out of thirty-five counties, to nineteen counties they gave no representation at all: all the delegates were from the other sixteen. And that convention met and adopted what is called the "Lecompton Constitution." (A voice, "That is true, I'm a Douglas man.") That constitution was a slavery constitution, in any event; it was submitted to the people in what form they would have slavery—whether the slavery which was there should be continued perpetually, or whether future slavery should be prohibited from entering the Territory. A vote was taken upon that alternative proposition. Now, down to this period, and the formation of the Lecompton Constitution, all these outrages in Kansas—and I need not stop to repeat them, for they are familiar to you all—down to this period, they were all justified by the men who now claim credit, for opposing one of the series of acts growing out of the repeal of the Missouri compromise. When this constitution was sent to Congress, the republicans, as a matter of course, were opposed to it—they were opposed to the bogus laws from beginning to end—opposed to the usurpation, they were opposed to the deposition, and they, as a matter of course, were opposed to this Lecompton constitution—its legitimate offspring. Some of those who had justified all the previous outrages to Kansas opposed it. Also, and I have heard it said any distinguished colleague claims credit for opposing it and killing it. Why, my fellow citizens my colleague was brushed out of the way as you would brush away a fly. In the Senate of the United States they passed it over the heads of the republicans with all the assistance Judge Douglas could give us.—He was counselling with us, and advising with us, and attempting to devise plans by which it could be defeated, yet it went through the Senate with a decided majority, that in the House of Representatives, where the republicans were stronger, they made a stand against it, and the question was taken on rejecting this Lecompton constitution, this fraudulent contract, and but a single so called democrat voted against it. Major Harris, of this State, was the only one who united with the republicans, and came up like a man and voted to reject and kill that thing forever. (Good for our man—three cheers for Harris.) Fellow citizens, I do not mean there was but one man voted against it—I think there were twenty five, but we got but little help from those men who claim credit for having defeated it, that is what I mean to say. The proposition was made to amend the bill, and it resulted in what you know as the English—I believe some people call it—a snake—But it is no matter what it was, the people of Kansas battled it out of sight on Monday last. (Great cheers.) Now, where are these men, who, upon it as matter united with the republicans—where are they? They say they differed with the Administration upon a single measure. What was that measure? Why, it was on the adoption of the Lecompton constitution, and admitting Kansas into the Union as a State under it. Well, that was a temporary issue, and is dead, buried, past and gone forever. That is the end of it. Where are the men, then, who united with the republicans to defeat that in equity and fraud, who have proclaimed in loud tones that it was a swindle, and that there was an unholy attempt to force that swindle upon the people of Kansas? They have gone back and united with those men who compelled to force this constitution upon the people of Kansas against their will, (they are a singular sort of associates for honest men to pick out,) and they claim to stand with them. Now, I think that the burying of the Lecompton constitution by the people was the end of this question, and that freedom might triumph forever afterwards. But the contest is not ended. This fall one of a series of acts adopted by this party in 1854, which the policy of the country was changed in regard to the government of the Territories on the subject of slavery.

THE DESPOTISM AT WASHINGTON.

The power which was then inaugurated is sweeping all the departments of this government, not merely to extend slavery into Kansas, but bring it in as a slave state, but to make all the interests of the great country subordinate to the slave power—the despotism of Washington is about as cruel, as that which has prevailed in Kansas. There is not, holding office throughout this vast country, a single man who is known to entertain views in opposition to the rights to take slaves into free Territories. It is an utter disqualification for office—All the departments at Washington are organized upon the plan of proscribing men who believe that slavery should be excluded from the free Territories. All the committees in Congress—or all the important ones—which mature the business for the action of Congress, are under the control of this same power. The Supreme Court is under the control of this same power. You all recollect the case which excited the whole country two years ago, when a Senator of the United States was struck down and beaten nearly to death in his seat in the Senate Chamber, for uttering his honest sentiments in opposition to this slavery propagandism. But a worse state of things than that exists to day. The gentleman who was thus stricken down in the vigor of manhood, and has been suffering from that day to this, and who, his best friends fear, may never recover, suffering with anguish and pain and torture, from blows inflicted on him unawares and without notice—that gentleman, now just able to walk, has his seat made his appearance in the Senate chamber, having been re-elected by the people of Massachusetts, and when he comes there, and rises with difficulty from his chair, two years after the act was done, for which some may plead the excuse that it was done under excitement—I say to you, the very men in the interest of this power effect to treat him with contempt. (Cries of "Shame, shame!"—Would you believe it? Not a Northern Senator belonging to this pro slavery party dares even speak to him lest he offend his southern associate! Yes, during the last session of Congress, when upon one occasion it was stated in the Senate that the Senator from Massachusetts had paired off with some other member, who was also indisposed, a sneer of contempt was observed through the chamber at the idea of his indisposition, and the leaders of this pro slavery element say about it believe that it is a pretence on the part of a man who has been suffering these two years. In my judgement the world has never seen exhibited such base malignity and cruelty as this attempt to insult still more that suffering man. This is worse a thousand fold than the spirit which under excitement caused the blow, for this is premeditated and continued malice. (Loud applause.)

A VOICE—Three cheers for Sumner. The cheers were given heartily.

I mention this, my fellow citizens, to show the road, lots of things in Washington. Let me tell you another fact. I went to your representatives two years ago to Washington, (almost an entire stranger,) never having met them more than two or three times, of the Illinois legislature, I remained there to see of the representatives of this State through two sessions of Congress, seen their conduct with the representatives of other congressional States for the best good of a country, and for those two years was not placed on a committee which ever met. Republican Senators were not consulted—we were ignored by this proscriptive intolerant party, that made addresses to the citizens of the slave power the only tool by which they allowed a person to take part in the proceedings of government wherever they could prevent it. A little different state of things prevailed after the Free soil party came in. But let me tell you how it now is. The committees were organized anew at the commencement of the last session of Congress, and I have with me a list of them. On looking at it you will find that all the leading committees are not only entirely in the interest of this pro slavery party, but are controlled by South-ern men. The Committee on Foreign Relations is one of the most important. It is presided over by Mason, of Virginia, and a majority of that committee are from the Southern States. The Committee on the Judiciary is presided over by Bayard, of Delaware, and a majority of that committee are from the Southern States. The Committee on Naval Affairs is presided over by Mallory, of Florida, and a major ity of that committee are from the Southern states. The Committee on Military Affairs is presided over by Davis, of Mississippi. The Committee on Finance by Hunter, of Virginia. Southern men are at the head of all these committees. That on Commerce is presided over by Clay, of Alabama; that on Indian Affairs by Sebastian, of Arkansas. I believe there are one or two other committees besides that on Territories, of which Mr. Douglas is the Chairman, the chairmanship of which is given to the North; perhaps the Committee on Enrolled Bills, or something of that kind. Now the Northern free states constitute a majority, and you see how powerless they are in the councils of the senate. This is so, not only in regard to the distribution of the business of Congress, but in the appropriations. At the last session of Congress more than three fourths of all the money appropriated for fortifications on the Atlantic and the Gulf coast was appropriated for forts in slave holding states. The same two buildings in the South erected for custom house purposes—one at New Orleans and the other at Charleston—are not yet completed, and no estimates are furnished of what the cost of completing them will be. A ready more than five millions of dollars have been appropriated to build these two houses alone. There's where the money goes. The last Congress appropriated $3,000,000 to continue the work on the Capitol; and when it inquired of the Secretary of the Chairman of the Committee of Finance, how much the custom house at Charleston was to cost when completed, he replied he has not estimate has been made; but the inquiry elicited the answer of the fact that a marble palace was being built fronting on a fish market on one side, which had already cost, with the appropriation then asked, some two or three millions of dollars, and it would cost some three millions before it would be finished. How many more do you suppose are to occupy this position, when finished? Forty-eight was the sum been expended up to 857 the last year reported, and the amount of revenue collected was a little over $600,000. (Laughter.) The so called dismoney was for the accommodation of those forty-eight persons, and to collect $600,000, a building to cost three millions! In the great city of New York! Now for a custom house—many of you have seen it—the building it is and it cost about seven or eight million dollars. For many years to do so I suppose one employed at the New York Custom House, the how much revenue collected? The last year reported more than forty-two millions of dollars collected at New York, and there were more than a thousand persons employed in the custom house and a building costing little over a million, and yet to do the business for the year a person such an appropriation as that for the Custom House at Charleston could be obtained to erect a public building in the Northern States? No, sir. The Custom House in the city of Philadelphia only cost some four or five hundred thousand dollars; that in Boston about a million, while it cost in New Orleans half cost more than a million. A voice—"sinking at it." Laughter. Yes, sinking at that. Take the reason, my friends, is based on a sandy foundation. (Renewed laughter.) While three fourths of the money appropriated for fortifications on the last session to be expended in slave states, not a cent was appropriated for the fortifications of the North and Western frontier. While the party can appropriate five millions to build two houses—one at the Charleston and the other at New Orleans—how much money do you suppose appropriated at the last session to aid the people of two towns in Kansas? Not a million, not a million, not a million of property that usually go down to the bottom to assist of some improvement of your great harbors? Not a dollar could be obtained for such a purpose.

THE DRED SCOTT DECISION.

Now we all did that party design by the policy inaugurated in 1854? I will show you how they have gone on step by step, advancing first one opinion, then another, and then another, until they have got almost a finished system; denying first the power of Congress to exclude it, then denying the power of the people of a Territory, while in a Territorial condition, to exclude it. Next, they will deny it power of the people when they form a State constitution, or at least that slavery in the next step to be taken is that first the Dred Scott decision, I think, is low enough to get before you. If I am, a clear idea of that Dred Scott decision, and what is decided in that case. The case was this:—A man by the name of Dred Scott sought a suit in the United States Court in Missouri, on the ground that he has been taken by his master to Rock Island, in the State, and then held for some time and afterwards taken to Fort Snelling, Minnesota, which was then a Territory, and a part of the Louisiana purchase, from which slavery was excluded by the Missouri compromise; and he thinks that by virtue of the laws of Illinois and the law of the Territory in which he was at Fort Snelling, he was a free man. The defense set up this plea! That Dred Scott was a negro, descended from parents who were imported from Africa and sold as slaves, and being such negro he had no authority to use in the United States courts, and therefore the court had no jurisdiction over the case. Now, the defendants didn't set up that Dred Scott was a slave, mind you. He said he was a negro, descended from slave parents.

A VOICE—That's a nigger anywhere, too.

MR. TRUMBULL—I presume the person that made that remark belongs to the African democracy, and is in the habit of calling everybody else "nigger" to prevent such arm. (Great cheers and laughter.) I have heard off not much men before, and they are in the habit of calling out "woolly heads" "abolitionists" "nigger," such epithets being the only argument they have. Now, I want to expose that man.

Another VOICE—He's not a man—let him go.

MR. TRUMBULL—I want to find him before this audience, and in doing so I will expose a numerous class like him. He is one of our Douglas men, I take it. I will hold him up here, and let you see him with the woolly heads around him. I will expose him in all his nakedness. This is just as good a place to expose the hypocrisy of that class of men as anywhere. The Dred Scott decision, mind you, is based on a sandy foundation. (Renewed laughter.) While three fourths of the money appropriated for fortifications on the last session to be expended in slave states, not a cent was appropriated for the fortifications of the North and Western frontier. While the party can appropriate five millions to build two houses—one at the Charleston and the other at New Orleans—how much money do you suppose appropriated at the last session to aid the people of two towns in Kansas?

Completion of the Queen's Message—Explanation.

THURSDAY BAY, Aug. 17.

The Queen's message was completed at five o'clock this morning. It was commenced yesterday, and in order to make slight repairs to the wire, Trinity Bay was left out. Through a mistake the part received was sent South as if it constituted the whole message.

The Queen's Message to the President

VALENTIA, via TRINITY BAY,
August 16 | 1858.

To the Hon. the President of the United States:

The Queen desires to congratulate the President upon the successful completion of this great international work, in which the Queen has taken the deepest interest. The Queen is convinced that the President will join with her in fervently hoping that the Electric Cable which now connects Great Britain with the United States will prove an additional link between the nations, whose friendship is founded upon thier common interest and reciprocal esteem. The Queen has much pleasure in thus communicating with the President, and renewing to him her wishes for the prosperity of the United States.

The following Message was sent in reply by Mayor Tiemann to the Lord Mayor of London:

I am proud at your British Lordship upon the successful laying of the Atlantic cable, uniting the continents of Europe and America, and the cities of London and New York—the world of Great Britain and the United States—the champions of science and energy and enterprise—thus uniting more closely the bonds of peace and commerce, prosperity and intelligence, as I am sure the world's history prognosticates will result beyond the connection of Europe and America.

(Signed) D. F. TIEMANN,
Mayor of New York City.

Two men have been arrested here on suspicion of being the murderers of a negro at Providence some time since.

From Kansas.

ST LOUIS, Aug. 7.

Letters from Fort Riley state that Lieut. Col. Johnston, with his 1st cavalry and Capt. Sumpter of the Cheyenne Expedition, have arrived from the Plains. The former resumes the command at Fort Riley.

Republican Convention.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 17.

Hon. Tom Corwin has been nominated for Congress by the Republicans of the 7th District, who held a convention yesterday.

STEAMERS.

California Steamers,

Carrying the United States Mail.

5th and 20th of each month.

Through Tickets, including transit of the Isthmus, via Panama R. R.

By order of the Post-master General, the United States Mail Steamers will hereafter be despatched from New York to Aspinwall, on the 5th and 20th of each month.

Passengers are landed at the Railroad Depot, Aspinwall, and conveyed across to the Pacific Steamers without any extra expense. This is the only line giving entire Through Tickets, instead of meals, on the Isthmus.

Transit made in four hours out, only by daylight, thus avoiding the greatest powerful night in open boats to Every and agus, and 200 miles of dangerous lake and river navigation, over rocks and shoals.

Arrangements have now been completed so that the regular U. S. Pacific Mail Steamers will leave Panama for San Francisco immediately on arrival of the Atlantic Mails and passengers, thus securing passengers by the Mail Line a sure and short passage, without any detention on the Isthmus.

☞ Tickets must be signed by one of the Company's Agents before they will be recognized by the Agent at Panama, and tickets thus signed can be obtained of the only authorized Agent for the Atlantic and Pacific Mail Steamship Companies, in this city. C. L. BARTLETT, Agent,

American & Foreign Patents.

D. H. EDDY,

SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

Late Agent of U. S. Patent Office, Washington under the Act of 1837.

76 State St., opposite Elliot St., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of twenty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States, also, in Great Britain, France, and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Bonds, Assignments, and all Papers or Drawings for Patents, executed on liberal terms, and with despatch. Researches made in the American or Foreign works, to determine the validity or utility of Patents or Inventions—and legal or other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any Patent furnished by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded at Washington.

The Agency is not only the largest in New England, but the only one in which inventors have advantages for securing patents, by accompanying the preliminary of intention that required by law, in numbers greatly superior to any which can be offered them elsewhere. The Testimonials below given prove that this is MORE SUCCESSFUL AT THE PATENT OFFICE than the inventor, and as SUCCESS IS THE BEST PROOF OF ADVANTAGES AND ABILITY, he would add that he has abundant reason to believe his own proves, but at no other office of the kind are the charges for professional services so moderate. The immense patronage of the subscriber during twenty years past, has enabled him to accumulate a vast collection of specifications and official decisions relative to patents. There, besides his extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and full accounts of patents granted in the United States and Europe, renders him able, beyond question, to offer superior facilities for obtaining patents.

All necessity of a journey to Washington, to procure a patent, and the usual great delay there are here avoided.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard H. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON,
Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring those who may employ a person so well versed in the business, and more capable of securing their rights than most others, to secure such an advantage and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents.

Boston, February 8, 1856.

Sir, I feel bound to make for me THIRTEEN Applications, in all but one of which patents have been granted, and that in most a short time, with unquestionable proof of great talent and ability in behalf of my interests. I cannot but recommend all inventors to apply to him for protection of their rights, as they may be sure of having the most faithful and zealous and best services in such cases, and at very reasonable charges. TO S. TAGGART.

From Sept. 17th, 1857, to June 17th, 1858, the subscriber, in course of his large practice, made 106 twenty-three rejected applications, SIXTEEN APPEALS, EVERY ONE of which was decided in his favor by the Commissioner of Patents.

For a Club of Twenty and over the yearly subscription is only $1 40.

The 12th volume will be printed upon fine paper, with new type.

The general character of the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN is well known, and, as heretofore, it will be chiefly devoted to the promulgation of information relating to the various Mechanical and Chemical Arts, Manufactures, Agriculture, Patents, Inventions, Engineering, Mill Work, and all interests which the light of Practical Science is calculated to advance. It is issued weekly, in form for binding, it contains annually from 500 to 600 finely executed engravings, and sketches of American and European improvements, together with an Official List of American Patents claims published weekly in advance of all other papers.

It is the aim of the Editors of the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN to present all subjects discussed in its columns in a practical and popular form. They will also endeavor to maintain a candid fearlessness in combatting and exposing false theories and practices in Scientific and Mechanical matters, and thus preserve the character of the Scientific American and reliable Encyclopedia of Useful and Entertaining Knowledge.

Specimen copies will be sent gratis to any part of the country.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS—Ward Cowing, William A. Bradford, Samuel H. Darling, Edward B. Perry, George W. Hall, F. C. Gardiner, Obed P. Miller, Thomas A. Doyle, William R. Ryder, George Cleveland, Philip Ryder.

THIS Company Insures against Loss or Damage by Fire, on Stores, Merchandise, Dwellings, Mills, Manufactories, Hotels &c., also on Marine and Inland Transportation Cargo Risks at the ordinary rates of premium.

Losses Promptly and Equitably Adjusted and Paid.

All premiums made specific when Policies are issued, and are to be prepaid in money; and no further assessment in case of loss is to be made on the parties so insured, the advantages of a Stock Company, which precludes the possibility of an assessment, are very obvious.

The Board of Directors have authorized the issue of Policies on coastwise risks, detached on very low terms.

The Company expect to deserve the confidence of the public, by doing business on as favorable terms as any other similar institution, and by the utmost fairness and liberality in all their dealings.

Policies granted and issued to parties effecting Insurance, at once without delay, by the undersigned, at his office.

LINCOLN'S WATER PROOF BLACKING,

AND LEATHER PRESERVATIVE.

Keep your Feet dry and you will seldom need a Physician.

IS not a truth that when the feet are often wet, it is one of the greatest causes of colds and consumption? Is it a truth that when leather is often wet, and dried, it soon becomes hard, stiff, and crakes, but when it is water-proof this is remedied. By the application of this preservative, it remains soft, and entirely impervious to water.

After being engaged for 25 years in the manufacture of Leather in all its branches, and being often troubled with wet feet myself, I was led to experimenting on different compositions, and found it easy to make it water-proof, but at the same time extremely injurious to the leather. At last by a chemical process, I discovered a preparation which perfectly harmonizes with the astringent properties with which leather is tanned. It will not only make leather water-proof, but it likewise softens the leather, and it will Positively wear twice as long.

I have now used it for three years, and a large part of that time has been worked in a wet Tannery, with my boots constantly in water, and have not had my feet wet during that time. I can therefore in all confidence, recommend it to the public as the best article in the market.

Bank and State Stocks—40 cts per lb
Bonds and Mortgages—40 cts per lb
Wills and Deeds—40 cts per lb

For wrapping Bills and other fine articles it is excellent, as it prevents moths. 40 cts a lb

For Indentures and Agreements, 40 cts a lb

All state and County Records should always be printed or written on this paper as the chemicals inserted in the pulp not only prevents erasure or transfer, but makes it lasting as time.

For Southern climates it is excellent, and much superior to any other, as the moistness of the climate does not destroy it,—the properties inserted in the pulp being a preventative. In all the Southern States, Cuba, the West Indies, and the Central American States no public records can be kept over 20 years written on the ordinary paper, while the oils and other chemicals inserted in this paper makes it indestructible by the ravages of time. It is also proof against moths, rats and other vermin, which feast on and destroy all other paper now in use.

The Company have now in operation Mills in Morris County, N. J., of about 300 horse power, and are able to fill all orders for Paper at the shortest notice.

All orders for the Paper must be addressed to A. NICHOLAS, President of the Company, No. 70 Wall street, New York.

The following remedies are offered as the best, most perfect, which modern art afford. AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS, prepared with the utmost skill which the profession of this age possesses, and they have virtues which surpass all other medicines hitherto known. They do more or less good, but these obnoxious complaints, so quick and sure in their efficacy and a power to overcome any thing which man have the power of removing the obstructions of the stomach, stimulating them into healthy action, the fountains of life and health, anew through the body, and make it again. They are adapted to all ages and conditions, for when taken from infancy to age, but little effect. This is the property of a purgative. It is antagonistic to disease, and children may take them without fear, as they will cure them, they will do them no harm.

Give them to some patient troubled with bilious complaints, or their offspring form straighten with a long-lost appetite, return the blossom into health, give life to one whose foul blood has rendered life a burden, one covered with sores, or one in anguish. He has been worn out with every poison within, give him these Pills, see the scales fall from his skin that has grown under it, that is clean. Give them to one whose humors have planted rheumatic bones, move him, and he is a sufferer, has been soaked through and through with liniments and salves, give him Pills to purify his blood; he is well, for, alas! there are cases which art can reach, but man knows he was, and now he walks alone. Give them to the lean and hungry, whose gnawing stomach has banished the smile from his face and every trace of his appetite return, and he will see the new man. See here! the pallid and lovelessness blasted and cast away, want of exercise and the lurking disease, his demon of digestion, assimilation, and their office all. He knows not what ailed him, gone, force her these Pills, the principle into renewed vigor, constructions, and infuse a new life. Now look again—the rosy cheek and where lately sorrow sat on every feature. See the sweet smile, its wan, sickly features telling of sleeplessness and painfully distinct that it is gone away. Its pinched up nose and sleeplessness, tell the dreadful tale every mother knows. Give these to sweep these cobwebs away. New turk again and see the change. Is it nothing to relieve them? they not the marvel of the neighborhood around you every day.

Have you the less serious symptoms of temper, they are the sure forerunners of Costiveness, Headache, Sick Stomach, Nausea, Pain in the Side, Loss of Appetite, Kings Evil, and a hundred complaints all arising from which these Pills rapidly eradicate, and under the influence of these Pills, if you take, if not take, advice as we give you, many dangerous diseases, this cause, lions of the human race are victims of old—they must be cured.
